

Information

Care

- Full sun (5 hrs per day)
- Let the soil dry out between watering. Water them thoroughly, fully saturating the soil.
- Use fertilizer sparingly.
- Prone to mealybugs early in the season.
- Keep frost free and completely dry late autumn and winter as the plant is extremely sensitive to excess water at the roots.

Links

KEW: <http://powo.science.kew.org/taxon/urn:lsid:ipni.org:names:218044-2>

RHS: <https://www.rhs.org.uk/Plants/119927/Rebutia-arenacea/Details>

WIKI: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Rebutia_arenacea

Label text

Sulcorebutia arenacea will grow in full sun to part shade. At least five hours of direct sun a day is ideal.

Let the soil dry out between watering, water them thoroughly, fully saturating the soil.

These plants do not require much fertilization.